

ARB 109	第一級総合無線通信士「英会話」試験問題
XRB 109	第一級海上無線通信士「英会話」試験問題
YRB 109	第二級海上無線通信士「英会話」試験問題
ZRB 109	第三級海上無線通信士「英会話」試験問題

(注) 解答方法： 選択肢の中から最も適切な答えを一つ選び、その番号に対応する答案用紙のマーク欄を黒く塗りつぶしなさい。

QUESTION 1 What do you call a gathering of such people as family members or old schoolmates who have not met for a long time?

1. A reunion
2. A grave visit
3. A senior prom
4. An anniversary

QUESTION 2 The weather forecast says the atmospheric pressure at the typhoon's center has changed from 930 to 980 hectopascals. How do you expect the wind will change in most of the affected area?

1. It will cease.
2. It will become weaker.
3. It will become stronger.
4. There will be no change in its direction or strength.

QUESTION 3 After the lecture, the professor told the audience to feel free to come to his office to discuss any further questions they may have. What did he mean by that?

1. His lecture was free of charge.
2. They should relax after such a complicated discussion.
3. They should not hesitate to go to his office if they want to talk more.
4. If they were feeling ill in the lecture hall, they should go to his office for a rest.

QUESTION 4 Log speed is the speed relative to the water. Ground speed is that relative to the ground. When a vessel is sailing against the current, which value will be higher, the log speed or ground speed?

1. The log speed
2. The ground speed
3. They will be the same.
4. It depends on the water temperature.

QUESTION 5 In general navigational rules, ships with higher maneuvering capability should give way to those with less capability. Which of the following will have first priority?

1. Motorbikes
2. Fishing boats
3. Motor vessels
4. Hampered vessels

QUESTION 6

Suppose your small vessel has lost power and cannot make way. A rescue ship has arrived but the wind is very strong. The rescue ship says, "I will make a lee for you". What does it mean by that?

1. It will go windward to reduce the wind effects.
2. It will go to your stern to push your vessel up against the wind.
3. The rescue ship will go in front of your bow to help you to rotate your vessel.
4. The rescue ship will go leeward as it wants to expose you to the strong wind.

QUESTION 7

The harbormaster's office has received a question from a large passenger ship regarding when to enter the port with a good under keel clearance. What might it answer?

1. The water is deep enough now for your draught. Proceed to the berth now.
2. I understand you have some list to port. Use caution when docking at the berth.
3. The traffic lane is not clear yet. Do not proceed to the berth till I tell you to do so.
4. I have received and confirmed your air draught. The bridge is high enough for you to go under.